

Depart from you unclean spirit, put on shame, miserable one; horrible unclean spirit you are who brings such things to mine ears. Depart from me!

You detestable deceiver you shall not have no part in me or my marriage, but Jesus shall be with me as a strong warrior and you shall stand confounded. Rather would I die and bear all suffering than consent unto you.

Hold your peace and be dumb, I will not hear you anymore though you plot more snares against me and my marriage. The Lord is my light and my salvation whom then shall I fear? Though a host of men should rise up against me, yet shall not my heart be afraid. The Lord is my strength and Redeemer!