

Jesus, give us your eyes. Give us your heart. Transform us into your likeness. I pray that my spouse and I would see and address all things through the eyes of love.

Give us the grace to have your perspective in every situation. I pray that we wouldn't focus on each others faults or the faults of others, but our focus would be on the good that you're doing in each of us and the souls we encounter.

May we always see from a heavenly perspective and call others higher to what you see. May we teach our children to see things the same way. Lord, thank you for your love. May it radiate all through our friendship, our relationship and our marriage in Jesus name Amen!
